

The International Profiler - online licensing process

1. Advance Information

Prior to starting the online course, you received advance email information from your WorldWork Instructor about the course.

2. Experience the TIP Instrument

Advance information included directions on how to access and complete the International Profiler questionnaire. Your instructor will share your results with you at some point during the course.

3. Complete the Online Training Course

The online training course consists of 3 Modules that you will complete over approximately 4 weeks. This will consist of work on your own using the course materials, interaction using forums on the WorldWork Learning Platform, and live interaction with your instructor and course mates using a web-conferencing tool.

4. Guinea Pig Process

After you have completed the course you are asked to prepare a short marketing plan to demonstrate how you would sell TIP into a client and also conduct a practice feedback session with a candidate of your choice, going through all the steps, and sharing required feedback with your instructor along the way.

5. Final Write-Up

To conclude the training, you are asked to write a brief paper reflecting on your experience and share this with the Instructor.

Upon successful completion of these steps, you will become a WorldWork Licensee – authorized to administer “The International Profiler.”
